SATURDAY MORNING MAY 9 186[illegible]

The Spirit of the Copperheads

At a Copperhead meeting in New Jersey the other day Vallandigham the High Priest of the Butternuts received vociferous applause from a sympathizing audience for the following characteristic sentiment

I remember that it was in the city of Newark a little more than two years ago that I first gave the pledge to any portion of the people of the United States that I never would contribute, by my words or acts, to the shedding of one drop of American blood in a civil war.

The speaker and the meeting evidently forgot their cue. It is the Democratic dodge nowadays, to pretend that originally the Democrats were all in favor of the war and went into opposition only when the Proclamation turned it into "a war for the nigger;" but Democrats applaud Vallandigham who from the first refused to vote men or money for crushing the rebellion. At the same meeting Stonewall Jackson was loudly cheered.

When Mr Vallandigham asked "Will you send out your sons again to the battle field?" overwhelming, enthusiastic cries of "No! no!" "Never, never!" "God forbid!" "Not if I know myself!" &c, came from all parts of the house. "Shall they be conscripted to carry on this war for two years more and for the negro?" he asked. A tremendous outburst of yells, cheers, cries of "No never" "Let them try it!" "See them d—d first!" "We defy them!" was the response.

Subsequently at a meeting of the Mozart Hall Democracy in New York a series of resolutions of the most shameful character were passed and supported by a treasonable speech from Fernando Wood, of which the N Y. Dispatch says

"If the resolutions had been drawn up by the pen of Jefferson Davis, in the city of Richmond, they could not have been more venomous in language or disloyal in sentiment.—They are for peace at any price, denounce the war for the maintenance and integrity of the Union, as a "miserable and bloody war which has failed to bring us one step nearer to the restoration of the Union. They also advise resistance to the lawful authorities of the land, or to any enactment of Congress which, near or remote, provides for the support of the Army and Navy until the rebellion is suppressed, decry loyal leagues, and congratulate Democrats everywhere on their resistance to the Constitution and the laws, advising members of the "party" henceforth to refuse paying taxes into the Federal Treasury.

In sustaining these resolutions, Fernando Wood went even further in his denunciations of the Government, and of law and order than he has in any previous speech ventured. He declared that there were no "War Democrats," that the moment any member of the party advocated war, he ceased to be a Democrat! He also insisted, that loyalty was a word of monarchical derivation (!) and that no republican could use it.

The New York Leader, a thoroughly "Democratic" paper, speaking of Union Leagues, says "No Democrat will join such an organization. It does not follow OUR flag or keep step to our music." Well that's so,—we don't follow the "stars and bars," or keep step to "Dixie." But the Leader further says. "The Democratic party is and always has been a great Union league." Yes, and in 1860, Jeff Davis was its King, and now Wood and Vallandigham are its Regents, exercising power until its lawful sovereign can return to resume the reigns of its government. The Leader exhorts its readers thus: "Away then with all trivial and ephemeral organizations to save the Union! Abhor them, avoid them, defeat them as unclean things!" which is rather an unfortunate simile for the Leader, for if it succeeds in imbuing its Five Point constituency with the idea that there is any thing "unclean" about Union Leagues, their natural propensities will permit them to lose no time in applying for enrollment as members.

Such is the Copperhead Democracy in the States, and such also is the animus of its two or three sickly organs in Oregon. We would say to loyal men in the loyal words of the Dispatch: "Let no man who, in after time cares for his good name—who would not in the scrolls of the Republic have 'infamous' written over it, in the heart's blood of his country's noble defenders—listen to the insinuating words of the Copperhead who would persuade him that 'loyalty' is not a symbol worthy of American contemplation or utterance."

SLIGHTLY ILLOGICAL.—Certain presses and orators of Coppery proclivities insist that we are living under an absolute despotism, and that freedom of speech has been crushed out under the iron heel of Federal tyranny. But they forget that the very violence of the terms they employ to denounce despotism proves that no such despotism exists. They forget that in attempting to prove that free speech is denied they prove that it was never so unlimited as now. They forget that the fact of their being permitted to wag their lied(?) val tongues and give their masters at Richmond aid and comfort is the highest possible evidence of the clemency of the Government. They forget that if the authorities at Washington were half as despotic as they claim, they would make haste to silence the noisy gabble of such fellows as our Copperhead organs.

Overland Emigration to the Pacific

The special correspondent of the Sacramento Union writing from Washington under date of April [illegible] says

From all appearances we must conclude that the emigration to the States and Territories of the Pacific coast will be very large during the coming season. The action of Congress upon many important interests of this region has had the effect to direct public attention more than ever to the new Territories, [illegible] especially Idaho, [illegible] prominently [illegible] the number of many who [illegible] yearnings are directed Westward. The [illegible] able [illegible] that an [illegible] desire to emigrate [illegible] the [illegible] which [illegible] Westward the course of empire takes its way. The glowing [illegible] pictures of its [illegible] abundant fruits, glorious scenery and climate [illegible] freshness of California make up an ideal painting in the minds of many [illegible] the [illegible] Land. War with its multitudinous evils has induced thousands to look longingly toward the Pacific, and hence there will be during the present season a great wave of [illegible] breaking over the [illegible] plains which lie between the Missouri, the Rocky Mountains and the Pacific Ocean. Most of these will be in families who take their household goods and flocks with them and will be [illegible] permanent settlers in the new [illegible] Congress appropriated $50,000 for the protection of the Overland Emigrant route, of which $[illegible] will be used [illegible] and the remainder will be placed at the disposal of Captain Crawford of Oregon, who is now here and proposes to fit out an expedition for the protection of the emigrants on the North Platte route and will start from Omaha, Nebraska, about the 20th of May next.—Captain Crawford has performed this service for the Government for the last two years and his plan is to enlist about fifty mounted men for the trip and to protect the last installment of the emigration, keep the Indians in awe as he passes along the road, fall behind the last feeble bands of emigrants and urge them on, supplying the destitute and assisting the broken down and unfortunate, and thus guarding from attack these defenceless and often improvident and careless people. Ten thousand dollars was left from the appropriation of last year, consequently Capt. Crawford has $30,000 at his disposal this year and will doubtless make good use of it for the benefit of those people who so much need the aid of the Government, and who are generally, I am sorry to say, unthankful for the assistance extended to them. The other expedition will be under the charge of Captain Fisk who will leave Fort Abercrombie, Minnesota, about the first of June and will lay his course due west for Idaho, taking with him a large party of people who propose to settle in that new Territory. Captain Crawford's route will be by the North Platte, keeping north of Salt Lake and crossing the Snake river near old Fort Hall, thence into the Boise country and to Walla Walla. It is noticeable that the character of the emigration to the Pacific coast is likely to be that of families rather than of mere adventurers and explorers, all of which promises well for the country in which new settlements are to be made.

A REIGN OF TERROR IN DIXIE.—A "reign of terror," unequaled since the French Revolution, exists in rebeldom. Every crime that can blacken humanity has free course. Every enormity that hellish depravity can devise is perpetrated. Brutality is supreme. Lawlessness is monarch of all it surveys. Rapine and plunder are the order of the day. Murder stalks unchallenged through the public highways. The halter has been dignified into the emblem of Justice and the corrector of social disorder.

The rebel Government is become the embodiment of lynch law. It takes robbery and assassination under its wing and makes them sacred. It offers bounties for outrage upon the rights and the freedom of the citizen. It grants permits to the lawless and depraved to prey upon society ad libitum. It boldly takes to the highway and pilfers purses and slits windpipes like a vulgar desperado.

The story of its crimes reads like a chapter from the memorabilia of the Thugs. It has drenched the land with the blood of its victims. It has made way with thousands of the best men of the South. It has converted the masses into obedience to its authority by the strong argument of the gallows. It has cruelly put to death hundreds of obstinate "traitors" in Texas, in Louisiana, in Northern and Central Tennessee. It has made its name a synonym of cruelty and barbarous conduct wherever it has planted its foot.

It manifests an unwonted zeal in its bloody mission just now. Tales of wholesale executions reach us from every quarter. Disaffected citizens are "strung up" without even the farcical formalities of law. Mutinous conscripts are shot down by platoons and companies. The wretches who flee to escape the draft are hunted like wolves by the pampered minions of the rebel Chief. A notorious rebel named Sickel was recently captured in South Eastern Missouri, and on his person was found a letter instructing him summarily to hang certain persons in order [illegible] to prevent them from demoralizing the rebel public sentiment!

Can a cause that demands such hellish agencies succeed? We do not believe it. The achievement of permanent empire by Jeff Davis and his followers is not among the decrees recorded in the book of Fate.—Albany Evening Journal.

THE NEW CHIPPEWA TREATY.—According to the terms of the new treaty with the Chippewas, [illegible] will settle [illegible] Lake on the southern border of Cass county, [illegible] the vicinity of Red Lake, about 120 miles further north, or to the boundary line between Polk and Pembina counties, and at least 100 miles north of the present outskirts of white settlement or civilization. The country [illegible] vast swamps [illegible] but a very small proportion of reclaimable lands. Red Lake is a body of water about thirty [illegible] miles long and sixteen [illegible] broadest [illegible] two lakes joined together by a narrow strait [illegible]. The treaty [illegible]. Among others it provides that the [illegible] of the [illegible] Red [illegible] and [illegible] all white [illegible] married.

A week [illegible] the [illegible] last [illegible] the Oregon [illegible] he says it [illegible] this State can [illegible] with [illegible], we still think that the Indians would [illegible] superintendent [illegible] than they have been during the past few years, and on the whole we shall not be sorry if the experiment is tried.

It is now considered certain by the S. F. Bulletin that Aspinwall intends putting on an opposition steam line connecting San Francisco and New York.

News of April 28th

SALEM, MAY 8—10 A. M.

NEW YORK, May 2.—The Tribune's correspondent says a gentleman who left Fredericksburg on Wednesday evening represents that the citizens of that city are fleeing in every direction. It is believed that the city will be shelled and all the property destroyed. A complete panic prevails throughout the whole country.

Money easy; sterling moderate; 148 gold lower, closing at 48[illegible].

Stuart's whole force of cavalry were in Culpepper watching Stoneman. They have all been intercepted. [illegible] Stoneman believes himself he will capture the whole concern.

A brigade of United States Regulars escaped, leaving their camp equipage behind.

Wheeler's brigade marched out from Fredericksburg intending to [illegible] the advance of Hooker's army, but hearing the magnitude of the movements, he ordered his brigade, which was panic stricken, back to their fortifications.

Gen. Lee and Jackson are in command at Fredericksburg. Longstreet was at Suffolk and Hill at Fort Pickens in North Carolina.

Four brigades were three miles above the city with orders to fall back to the rifle pits on the approach of the Yankees.

The Commercial Advertiser says: We have received information from sources which we know [illegible] to a degree of confidence which warrants the hope that Gen. Hooker has cut off the retreat of the rebels from Fredericksburg, and they will be captured or destroyed.

While some of our forces have crossed the Rappahannock, others are moving up to the city and it is believed Gen. Stoneman's cavalry have got between the rebels and Richmond and will cut off supplies and the retreat in that direction. It is also understood that a strong diversion has been made from Suffolk in the direction of Richmond. It is by no means improbable that the rebel capital before the close of the week will be in possession of the Federals.

The steamer Creole from New Orleans April 25th and Havana 27th, has arrived. Gen. Banks occupied Opelousas on the 20th and Washington on the 21st and rested for a day at the latter place. Cavalry was moving on [illegible] as fast as horses could be got.

Reports from Vera Cruz to April 21st state that the battle at Puebla is becoming very bloody. Losses on both sides very heavy.

The Charleston Mercury admits a loss at Grand Lake, La., of 1,000 prisoners taken, two rams, four transports and three gunboats.

Late rebel papers contain the following dispatch from Jackson of April 21st: The Federals [illegible] on the 20th [illegible] sent a division to [illegible] Sandee. They ran [illegible] and subsequently retired after accomplishing their object. A large force of Federal cavalry were within twelve miles of Houston on the 20th, designed to destroy the central railroad at Winona and Duck Hill.

In the fight at Fernando we lost one major, one captain and seventeen privates killed and about fifty wounded.

Dispatches to the Charleston Mercury say that the fight at Tuscumbia, as reported a few days ago, was a desperate hand to hand struggle. Sixty six Federals were taken.

PHILADELPHIA, May 2.—It is stated in the fight at Fairmount Mulligan lost 200 men taken prisoners, but brought off his artillery. The rebels at that place are said to be 2,000 strong, and a large force also occupies Morgantown. The bridges of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad factories and Cheat river bridges are destroyed.

Baltimore telegrams say the crisis with the railroad has passed and the rebel forces have all left passing South. Our troops in great numbers are following to intercept them. Damage to the road is confined to a large iron bridge one mile east of Fairmount and five unimportant bridges within thirty miles distance. Also three bridges on Park Branch are destroyed, but the track is used and the telegraph wires are repaired. Murphy & Allison's immense Car Factory with all its contents was destroyed by fire this morning. The loss exceeds $1,000,000.

CHICAGO, May 2d.—Memphis dispatches to April 30th say Ferguson's cavalry which started from West Tennessee had penetrated to Central Mississippi threatening Columbus. This dispatch confirms the reported destruction of twenty miles of the Mississippi Central Railroad. The rebel Chalmers is after Grierson and a Federal force is after Chalmers.

The Jackson Appeal of April 24th characterizes the Federal raid as exceedingly dangerous. The Appeal professes to have intelligence from Arkansas that the rebels are rapidly strengthening under Kirby Smith and Sterling Price, and will soon give the Unionists trouble in Missouri.

The Mobile Advertiser of the 1st says of the raid in Central Mississippi: These movements of the Federals are threatening Meridian and Southern railroad communications. We consider the news highly important.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3—P. M.—Steamer Constitution sailed yesterday.

The statement of Representative Lowe having received his commission as Collector of Customs for this port is incorrect.

THE POLISH INSURRECTION.—Russia has granted a full and entire amnesty to all Poles and Russians who lay down their arms and return to their allegiance by May 30th. The amnesty has been universally rejected and a protest against the amnesty circulated. The insurgents were victorious at [illegible] Konin and Polak. The insurrection is gaining ground. The Russians occupy the position formerly occupied by Langiewicz.

The Committee of the Warsaw Revolutionary Government has called upon the people to rise, declaring Lithuania and Little Russia inseparable portions of Poland.

The Czar's amnesty has much increased the intensity of the insurrection. Every individual in Cracow (Austrian Poland) wishes to join even without arms. In Lithuania the insurgents are increasing.

A Cracow dispatch of the 15th states that several fresh bands of Polish insurgents have been seen in the District of Sandomierz.

In a recent engagement near Suwalki the Russians lost 200 killed and seven cannon.

Langiewicz has declared to the authorities that he can no longer be [illegible] his part. He will be strictly guarded.

THE WILLEY AMENDMENT.—The Willey Amendment, which has just been adopted as a part of the Constitution of West Virginia, unanimously provides that the children of slaves born after July 4, 1863, shall be free, and that those less than ten years of age at that date shall be free when they arrive at twenty-one, and slaves over ten and less than twenty-one shall be free at the age of twenty-five, prohibiting also the importation of slaves into the State.

The Daily Oregonian.

The MORNING OREGONIAN has a larger SUBSCRIPTION LIST than any other Daily published in this City.

A MEANER THEFT.—It is a mean thing to steal anything at any time or under any circumstances but thieving in this country has become so common that people usually apply an adjective to the different cases, and classify them as 'mean meaner, meanest &c.' A case of this kind occurred in the western portion of this city, day before yesterday which we think can be properly classed under the second comparison,—(the third can only occur when stealing from an editor or a poor printer)—in which a stout hearty, able bodied scamp entered the cabin of a poor, honest hard-working man, who has a large family to support, and took therefrom the last and only remaining sack of flour the poor man had, thus depriving him and his wife and children of their hard earned daily bread. The thief was seen by a neighbor woman to leave the house, with the sack of flour strapped on his back, partly covered with a bundle of blankets, and march deliberately down Washington street to the more business part of the city It is presumed that he sold the sack to some trader, or pawned it for whisky or something else, which if true, it is hoped the person now having it in possession will send word to this office, that they flour may be restored to its proper owner.

NOT SO.—We are requested by Mr Murray, Secretary of the Oregon Steam Navigation Company, to say that the statement published in the Times of Thursday last, relative to the cars running off the track at Upper Cascades and precipitating a quantity of freight into the river, is false Only the forward wheels of one car ran off the track, and not a pound of freight was thrown into the water by the accident. The only damage done was the breaking off of one hinge to an iron door, which was quickly repaired and all the freight shipped to the Dalles the same evening.

FIRE COMPANY'S VISIT.—We learn that "Columbian Engine Company, No 3," contemplate paying a visit to "Jackson Fire Company, No. 1," Dalles City, on Monday, 18th inst. No doubt the "boys" will have a glorious time on the occasion.

BOISE DUST.—L C Fuller bought yesterday from a packer named Tregascus $4,000 in gold dust, from Boise river, where he had taken it in trade in less than six hours The dust is of the best quality, and is the largest lot brought down from that region by any one person.

THEATRE.—To-night is the last night of the engagement of the popular American Tragedienne, Miss Edith Mitchell During her short sojourn in our city she has rendered general satisfaction to the lovers of pleasure. The bill presented this evening is a good one, Miss Edith appearing in two of her favorite characters, as Pauline, in the "Lady of Lyons," and Ellen Morgan, in the great moral drama of "Ten Nights in a Bar-Room" As this is the last night of the season there should be a full house.

We understand that the Geological Lecture of Rev. Mr. Condon was postponed

SINKING OF A WHARF-BOAT.—We are informed that the wharf-boat belonging to the People's Transportation Company, at Lower Cascades, sunk on Thursday last, with considerable freight on board. We did not learn the extent of the damage, but at the time our [illegible] last left, some 20 tons or more of freight had been rescued from the boat and piled up on the beach. An unfortunate accident.

"Mechanics' Brass Band."

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

Everything tending toward the improvement of our city or affording genuine pleasure to our citizens should be duly encouraged Consequently, I would like to call attention to the new band which is just formed here There are fifteen members, all capable of sustaining well their parts, and they propose taking the name of "Mechanics' Brass Band," the leader of which, Mr. J. Everist, intends to make it the band of the place. During the evenings of the coming summer they propose to play once or twice weekly on the plaza, and all know how much enjoyment can be given and received in that manner. I understand the members are desirous to procure a few additional pieces, and to nicely arrange a room in which they can practice, but have not funds sufficient for the purpose. Any who feel interested in their success and are inclined to assist them in this matter, will have an opportunity to do so, as a subscription paper is to be issued Any contributions will be assured of a grateful acknowledgment

The Royal Wager

Come tell me where the maid is found
Whose heart can love without deceit
And I will range the world around
To sigh one moment at her feet —Moore

On a fine July day the fair Margaret, queen of Navarre, then on a visit to her royal brother, had arranged a rural feast for the morning following, which Francis had declined attending. He was melancholy, and the cause was said to be some lover's quarrel with a favorite dame. The morrow came, and dark rain and murky clouds destroyed all the schemes of the courtly throng. Margaret was angry, and she grew weary; her only hope of amusement was in Francis, and he had shut himself up—an excellent reason why she should the more desire to see him. She found him [illegible] ment, he was standing at the casement, against which the rain swept, writing with a diamond on the glass. Two [illegible] dogs were his sole companions. As Margaret entered he hastily let down the silken curtain before the window, and looked a little confused.

"What treason is this, my liege," said the queen, while a crimson sprang to her cheek. "I must see the same."

"It is treason," replied the king, "and therefore, sweet sister, thou must not see it."

This the more excited Margaret's curiosity, and a playful contest ensued. Francis at last yielded; he threw himself on a huge high-backed settee, and as the lady drew back the curtain with an arch smile, he grew grave and sentimental, as he reflected on the cause which had inspired this libel against all woman-kind.

"What have we here?" said Margaret. "Nay, this is lese majeste—

'Souvent femme varie—bien fol qui s'y fie.'
(Often woman changes—foolish he who trusts her.)

Very little change would greatly amend your line, sir—would it not run better thus—

'Souvent homme varie—bien folle qui s'y fie.'
(Often man changes—foolish she who trusts him.)

I could tell you a thousand stories of man's inconstancy."

"I will be content with one true tale of woman's fidelity," said Francis drily, "but do not provoke me. I would fain be at peace with the soft mutabilities, for thy dear sake."

"I defy your grace," replied Margaret, rashly, to instance the falsehood of one noble and well reputed dame."

"Not even Emilie de Lagny," said the king.

This was a sore subject for the queen. Emilie had been brought up in her household, the most beautiful and the most virtuous of her maids of honor. She had long loved the Sire de Lagny, and their nuptials were celebrated with rejoicings but little ominous of the result. De Lagny was accused but a year after of traitorously yielding to the emperor a fortress under his command, and he was condemned to perpetual imprisonment. For some time Emilie was inconsolable, often visiting the miserable dungeon of her husband, and suffering, on her return from witnessing his wretchedness, such paroxysms of grief as threatened her life. Suddenly, in the midst of her sorrow, she disappeared, and inquiry only divulged the disgraceful fact that she had escaped from France, bearing her jewels with her, and accompanied by her page Leroux. It was whispered that, during her journey, the lady and her stripling were often seen together, and Margaret, enraged at these discoveries, commanded that no further quest should be made for her lost favorite. Taunted now by her brother, she defended Emilie, declaring that she believed her to be guiltless, even going so far as to boast that within a month she would bring proof of her innocence.

"Robinet was a pretty boy," said Francis laughing.

"Let us make a bet," cried Margaret. "If I lose, I will bear this vile rhyme of thine as a motto to my shame to my grave; if I win—"

"I will break my window, and grant thee whatever boon thou askest."

The result of this bet was long sung by troubadour and minstrel. The queen employed a hundred emissaries—published rewards for any intelligence of Emilie—all in vain. The month was expiring, and Margaret would have given many bright jewels to redeem her word. On the eve of the fatal day, the jailer of the prison in which the Sire de Lagny was confined, sought an audience of the queen; he brought her a message from the knight to say, that if the lady Margaret would ask his pardon as her boon, and obtain from her royal brother that he might be brought before him, her bet was won. Fair Margaret was very joyful, and readily made the desired promise. Francis was unwilling to see his false servant, but he was in good humor, for a cavalier had that morning brought intelligence of a victory over the imperialists. The messenger himself was lauded in the dispatches as the most fearless and brave knight in France. The king loaded him with presents, only regretting that a vow prevented the soldier from raising a visor or declaring his name. The same evening, as the setting sun shone on the lattice, on which the ungallant rhyme was traced, Francis reposed on the same settee, and the beautiful queen of Navarre, with triumph in her bright eyes, sat beside him. Attended by guards, the prisoner was brought in; his frame was attenuated by privation, and he walked with tottering steps. He knelt at the feet of Francis, and uncovered his head; a quantity of rich golden hair then escaping, fell over the sunken cheeks and pallid brow of the supplicant.

"We have treason here!" cried the king. "Sir jailer, where is your prisoner?"

"Sire, blame him not," said the soft, faltering voice of Emilie; "wiser men than he have been deceived by women. My dear lord was guiltless of the crimes for which he suffered. There was but one mode to save him. I assumed his chains; he escaped with poor Robinet Leroux in my attire, he joined your army, the young and gallant cavalier who delivered the dispatches to your grace, whom you overwhelmed with honors and rewards, is my own Enguerard de Lagny. I waited but for his arrival with testimonials of his innocence, to declare myself to my lady the queen. Has she not won her bet? And the boon she asks—"

"Is de Lagny's pardon," said Margaret, as she also knelt to the king. "Spare your faithful vassal, sire, and reward this lady's truth!"

Francis first broke the false speaking window, then he raised the ladies from their supplicatory posture. In the tournament given to celebrate this 'triumph of ladies,' the sire de Lagny bore off every prize, and surely there was more loveliness in Emilie's faded cheek—more grace in her emaciated form—types as they were of truest affection—than in the prouder bearing and fresher complexion of the most brilliant beauty in attendance on the courtly festival.

WORTH REMEMBERING.—General Halleck is not a very popular man. He has no party. It is consoling to feel assured, however, that the General in Chief is not a demagogue, and is not even suspected of aspiring to the Presidency. He may be too slow; he may succumb to the influence of West Point prejudice; he may be deficient in the magnetic power which kindles popular enthusiasm. But we believe him to be a trained soldier of large intellect, sincerely devoting his energies to the advancement of the National cause.

INDUCED by the extensive sale and universal popularity of Hoofland's German Bitters (purely vegetable), hosts of ignorant Quacks and unscrupulous adventurers have opened upon suffering humanity the flood-gates of Nostrums in the shape of poor Whisky, vilely compounded with injurious drugs, and christened Tonics, Stomachics and Bitters.

Beware of the innumerable array of Alcoholic preparations in plethoric bottles, and big bellied kegs, under the modest appellation of Bitters, which instead of curing, only aggravate disease, and leave the disappointed sufferer in despair.

Hoofland's German Bitters!

Are not a new and untried article, but have stood the test of fifteen years trial by the American public; and their reputation and sale are not rivalled by any similar preparation.

The proprietors have thousands of letters from the most eminent

From Rev. J. Newton Brown, D. D., Editor of the Encyclopedia of Religious Knowledge.

Although not disposed to favor or recommend Patent Medicines in general, through distrust of their ingredients and effects, I yet know of no sufficient reasons why a man may not testify to the benefits he believes himself to have received from any simple preparation, in the hope that he may thus contribute to the benefit of others.

I do this the more readily in regard to Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, of this city, because I was prejudiced against them for many years, under the impression that they were chiefly an alcoholic mixture. I am indebted to my friend Robert Shoemaker, Esq., for the removal of this prejudice by proper tests, and for encouragement to try them, when suffering from great and long continued debility. The use of three bottles of these Bitters, at the beginning of the present year, was followed by evident relief and restoration to a degree of bodily and mental vigor which I had not felt for six months before, and had almost despaired of regaining. I, therefore, thank God and my friend for directing me to the use of them.

J. NEWTON BROWN.
PHILADELPHIA, June 23, 1861.

PARTICULAR NOTICE.

There are many preparations sold under the name of Bitters, put up in quart bottles, compounded of the cheapest whiskey or common rum, costing from 20 to 40 cents per gallon, the taste disguised by Anise or Coriander Seed.

This class of Bitters has caused and will continue to cause, as long as they can be sold, hundreds to die the death of the drunkard. By their use the system is kept continually under the influence of Alcoholic Stimulants of the worst kind, the desire for Liquor is created and kept up, and the result is all the horrors attendant upon a drunkard's life and death.

For those who desire and will have a Liquor Bitters, we publish the following receipt: Get One Bottle Hoofland's German Bitters and mix with Three Quarts of Good Brandy or Whiskey, and the result will be a preparation that will far excel in medicinal virtues and true excellence any of the numerous Liquor Bitters in the market, and will cost much less. You will have all the virtues of Hoofland's Bitters in connection with a good article of Liquor, at a much less price than these inferior preparations will cost you.

ATTENTION, SOLDIERS!

AND THE FRIENDS OF SOLDIERS.

We call the attention of all having relatives or friends in the army to the fact that "HOOFLAND'S German Bitters" will cure nine tenths of the diseases induced by exposures and privations incident to camp life. In the lists, published almost daily in the newspapers, on the arrival of the sick, it will be noticed that a very large proportion are suffering from debility. Every case of that kind can be readily cured by Hoofland's German Bitters. Diseases resulting from disorders of the digestive organs are speedily removed. We have no hesitation in stating that, if these Bitters were freely used among our soldiers, hundreds of lives might be saved that otherwise will be lost.

We call particular attention to the following remarkable and well authenticated cure of one of the nation's heroes, whose life, to use his own language, "has been saved by the Bitters."

PHILADELPHIA, August 23, 1862.

Messrs. Jones & Evans—Well, gentlemen, your Hoofland's German Bitters has saved my life. There is no mistake in this. It is vouched for by numbers of my comrades, some of whose names are appended, and who were fully cognizant of all the circumstances of my case. I am, and have been for the last four years, a member of Sherman's celebrated battery, and under the immediate command of Captain R. B. Ayres. Through the exposure attendant upon my arduous duties, I was attacked in November last with inflammation of the lungs, and was for seventy-two days in the hospital. This was followed by great debility, heightened by an attack of dysentery. I was then removed from the White House, and sent to this city on board the steamer State of Maine, from which I landed on the 28th of June. Since that time I have been about as low as any one could be and still retain a spark of vitality. For a week or more I was scarcely able to swallow anything, and if I did force a morsel down, it was immediately thrown up again.

I could not even keep a glass of water on my stomach. Life could not last under these circumstances; and, accordingly, the physicians who had been working faithfully, though unsuccessfully, to rescue me from the grasp of the dread Archer, frankly told me they could do no more for me, and advised me to see a clergyman, and to make such disposition of my limited funds as best suited me. An acquaintance who visited me at the hospital, Mr. Frederick Steinbron, of Sixth below Arch Street, advised me, as a forlorn hope, to try your Bitters, and kindly procured a bottle. From the time I commenced taking them the gloomy shadow of death receded, and I am now, thank God for it, getting better. Though I have taken but two bottles, I have gained ten pounds, and I feel sanguine of being permitted to rejoin my wife and daughter, from whom I have heard nothing for eighteen months: for, gentlemen, I am a loyal Virginian, from the vicinity of Front Royal. To your invaluable Bitters I owe the certainty of life which has taken the place of vague fears—to your Bitters will I owe the glorious privilege of again clasping to my bosom those who are dearest to me in life.

Very truly yours, ISAAC MALONE.

We fully concur in the truth of the above statement, as we had despaired of seeing our comrade Mr. Malone, restored to life.
